

International Workshop:

“Translating Welfare and Migration Policies in Canada and Germany – Transatlantic and Transnational Perspectives in Social Work”

Introductory Remarks, Ernie Lightman, Toronto; Eberhard Raithelhuber, Trier; Wolfgang Schröer, Hildesheim

Trafficking for Labour Exploitation: What the Implementation of a Supranational Requirement tells us about the Internal and External Limits of the German Welfare State, Dita Vogel, Bremen

The Neoliberal Politics of Canadian Immigration Policy-Making: Fetishizing “Modern Slavery” and Disavowing Unfreedom, Nandita Sharma, Hawaii

Tolerated and Nonstatus Workers’ Access to Mental Health Support Services: A Comparison between Toronto, Canada & Aachen, Germany, Avery Toppan, Toronto

The Fear of Transnational Experiences: Social Policy and Institutional Demands on Young Migrants to ‘Arrive’, Kiaras Gharabaghi, Toronto

Migrant Workers in the Migrant Support Sector: Labour Conditions in Comparative Perspective, Harald Bauder, Toronto

Migrants – Travelling People, Travelling Knowledge, Travelling Problems, Stefan Köngeter, Hildesheim

Moving Carers In, Moving Care Out: How Global Wage Differentials Favor New Strategies in Germany’s Old Age Policy, Vincent Horn and Cornelia Schweppe, Mainz

Managing Paradox at Home and Abroad: Social Welfare and the Trans/Nation State Global/Local Market Merger, Luann Good Gingrich, Toronto

Entry Categories and State-Based Boundary Work on National Identity: Expanding Sociological Approaches to Studying Immigration Policy, Jennifer Elrick, Toronto

Further participants: Lucia Artner, Yvonne Bach, Annett Bochmann, Adrienne Chambon, Francis Hare, Andreas Herz, Onno Husen, Ute Karl, Gavaza Maluleke, Claudia Pinkert, Philipp Sandermann, Daniel Schugurensky, Elisabeth Tuijer, Matthias Witte, Maren Zeller

17 to 19 October 2013, InterCity Hotel Frankfurt am Main